

Submitted on Wed, 2020-07-01 20:08

Submitted by: Anonymous

Submitted values are:

Approved for display

Do not display

Your submission

Remain anonymous

No

Claim for confidentiality

No

Published name

Jessica Richardson

Submission files

{Empty}

Your contact details

First name

Jessica

Last name

Richardson

Organisation (if applicable)

{Empty}

Email

[REDACTED]

Additional comments

Um, what about people who have older phones that use that spectrum? Nokias? What about us? How many people's phones are going to be cut off, how many people are going to be forced to buy smartphones we don't want? And right in the middle of a pandemic as well, you're going to force people to go into shopping centres, into shops, to buy new phones that we don't want when we're perfectly happy with the phones we have? Nokia e71 and e63 for instance? There are 3G phones that use that spectrum, and I don't think many of the people who use them will be happy with being cut off and forced to buy new phones right in the middle of a pandemic, especially older people who are still locking down at home.

Can we at least have a few more years until the coronavirus is over? For Christ's sake, just leave us alone with our Nokias, I don't want a "smart"phone that breaches our privacy all over the place and is susceptible to viruses. I quite like my dumbphone actually.